BIG STEEL COMPANY PAYS $4,000,000 FOR GREENE COUNTY COAL

Youngstown Sheet & Tube
Closes Deal With J. V.
Thompson.

5,000 ACRES CHANGES HANDS

Uniontown Banker and His Associates
Get $4,000,000 for 5,000 Acres for Big Holdings; Independent Company's Plans Are Not Announced.

The $4,000,000 Greene county coal deal, whereby J. V. Thompson, an attorney here, has sold 5,000 acres of coal to the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, concerning which numerous publications have from time to time appeared in the newspapers, was consummated this week, when the deed was finally passed, and the transfer formally made. The average price paid for this coal was $800 per acre, but some of it commanded as much as $1,000 per acre.

The coal has a river frontage of over three miles. The vein is from 1 to 3 feet in thickness. Beginning at the Mary E. Rose tract, just beyond Youngstown, and just opposite the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, the coal field extends up the river to Mt. Pleasant and then follows the undeveloped coal tract of the United States Steel Corporation. The bulk of the Youngstown coal lies opposite the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's plant, and the coal is of the same general quality.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company has made no announcement as to development, but it is understood that the tract will be put under operation in a few months. The coal is of the same quality as the coal of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's plant, and the coal is of the same general quality. The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company has made no announcement as to development, but it is understood that the tract will be put under operation in a few months. SMITHFIELD IN A TURKEYLESS TOWN ON THANKSGIVING

Special to The Courier.
SMITHFIELD, Nov. 28.—What is believed to be a record that was not equaled in the state is said to have been made here when not a single turkey was consumed on Thanksgiving. Smithfield has a population of one thousand, yet careful inquiry revealed the fact that the popular bird did not find a place on the festal board of a single home.

RETURNS HOME TO FIND HER HOUSE HAD BEEN RANSACKED

Home of A. V. Waterhouse on Cottage Avenue in Millard by Bergham.

Burglars ransacked the home of Stanley V. Waterhouse, corner of Cottage Avenue and Church place, some time during 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock last night, securing a suit of clothes, neckties, shirts, collars, a baby's bank containing a small sum of money, a revolver and some silverware.

Mrs. Waterhouse and her children were out of the house during the time the robbers were busy, having gone down to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station to take Mr. Waterhouse's lunch. The latter is employed as wire chief at "D" office and is on duty until 11 o'clock.

MOVIES ARE POPULAR

All of them are a big business on the Parkway.

Thanksgiving Day brought cheer to the moving picture men because the houses were crowded both afternoon and evening. All of them had special bills to offer. The Arcade vaudeville and picture made a decided hit. The good, especially Rome, who has a turn that is the best that has been seen here this season. Who sings well and gets her act across in great shape. Rayna Montgomery and DeWolf Haver have a clever singing sketch, while the last picture with a splendid trapdoor performance.

SAFETY FIRST IN SCHOOLS

Pennsylvania Railroad to Give New Buttons to Youngsters.

The Pennsylvania railroad is planning to carry its campaign for safety first into the public schools and large quantities of new little gold plated buttons at building prices to the public. These buttons consist of a green border in which is a key stone containing the Pennsylvania railroad monogram. In gold letters in the green background is the motto "safety first."

No New Steps Permitted at Church Bazaar Dance.

The floor committee in charge of the dance following the Immaculate Conception Bazaar last night took great pains to prevent the dancing of the new steps. Several couples were notified to stop and upon failing to do so were told that they would not be permitted to dance at future functions under the same auspices.

South Connellsville Man's Will

Three sons of Peter Jaglinski of South Connellsville are out of pocket a dollar each in his will, which was probated on Wednesday. After providing for the payment of all his debts and the funeral expenses, he left all of his property to his son, Alex, with instructions to divide it as follows: Frank, $100; (Christine, $100; Peter, $50; Joseph, $50; Victor and Louis, $1 each. Louis is to be given a home as long as his mind is considered "safe." The estate is valued at $1,125.

ALUMNI DANCE IS A BRILLIANT AFFAIR; THE TANGO IS HERE

New Steps Gain Recognition at Formal Event for First Time.

ARMORY BRIGHTLY DECORATED

More Than Two Hundred Fifty Persons
Attended Annual Ball of High School (Indicates) Gay Towns Add to Attractiveness of the Armory.

Dancing with the military ball in point of importance as the leading social event of the season, and lacking only the thrashed decorations of the soldiers' affair, the annual dance of the Connellsville Alumni Association was held in the armory on Wednesday evening. More than two hundred fifty persons in attendance. It was a brilliant event. The armory was never decorated more attractively. The gowns were bright and of many colored hues, and the orchestra, consisting of hundreds of soldiers, furnished a most excellent accompaniment. The dance was in charge of the committee composed of Dr. Walter N. Goldsmith, Frederick Friesner, Clifford Edmonds and Lloyd J. Shaw. Much of the success of the dance was due to the direction of Dr. Goldsmith, the first manager. There was a new floor in the receiving line were Eugene T. Norton, A. D. Roisman, C. W. Hays, J. Kirk Tenner, Charles E. Hall, J. Hall Spear, Miss Nellie Brickman, Miss Pearl Keck, Miss Edith Haller, Miss Naomi Rosenblum and Miss Mary Thomas. The grand march was led by the committee.

The dance gained particular attention because the new steps were given recognition. They were not formally included in the program, but there was no objection on the part of the committee for any couple to one-step, Boston or tango.

Although opportunities here for stepping the new dances have been limited, a surprisingly large number of persons took advantage of the committee's attitude and throughout the evening they all went from the tango and near-tango, to the castle waltz and its variations.

The affair was splendidly conducted from every standpoint. Appreciation over the attitude of the committee towards the new dances was demonstrated by the fact that the steps were done properly. Not a couple drew a frown of disapproval from the floor manager, and Dr. Goldsmith is a judge of the art of Terpsichore to be respected.

Some of the members of the committee expressed amusement over the nature of publicity given the dance, particularly in Uniontown, where the new dances have been formally recognized for the past two seasons. "They say the 'fig' was off," one member said today. "That in correct only to the extent that the ban that had been placed on the new steps by a few amateur Antony Comstocks was removed. I believe the new dances are entitled to the same trial here they are being given elsewhere. If they lack merit they will soon die out, and in such an event, opposition to them now will only make them live the longer."

"We are not at all disturbed at the publicity. The dance was the most successful that has been held by the association, and the consensus of opinion was that the proprieties were never more closely observed."

TWO-DAY SESSIONS UNDER WAY

Address was Made at the Opening
Session and Department Work
Then Taken Up; Much Interest in Being Shown in Program Outlined.

The annual city teachers' institute opened this morning in the high school building with virtually all of the teachers in attendance. A number of teachers from other districts are also on hand. A strong program has been arranged this year and it is expected that the institute will prove one of the most successful that has yet been held.

The exercises opened in the high school chapel when Miss Rose Lander of Pittsburgh sang a solo. The invocation was delivered by Rev. J. L. Prouditt. Addresses were made by Dr. R. Edwin Lee of Allegheny College and W. M. Deffenbaugh, former superintendent here, but now connected with the United States Bureau of Education.

The departmental work was taken up later with Miss Alice M. Curran in charge of the primary section, Dr. Lee instructing the intermediate and grammar grade teachers, and Dr. J. E. White addressing the high school teachers.

The same instructors will have charge of the afternoon program. They will also be here for the sessions tomorrow.

Of interest to school workers was the announcement that the Fayette County Principals and Teachers' Association will hold its convention here on Saturday, December 6. This is the first time that this association has met outside of Uniontown.

WRIGHT BAGS A MOOSE

New Councilman in Home From Canadian Hunting Trip.

Councilman-elect J. W. Wright, president of the Wright-Metzler Company, returned home Wednesday night from a two week's hunting trip in Canada. He succeeded in bagging a moose, the antlers of which measured 54 inches across, and contained 33 points.

Mr. Wright had a pleasant trip, weather conditions being decidedly satisfactory throughout. The head of the moose is being mounted and will be shipped here when the job is finished.

BRODIGAN IN JAIL

Other Three Boys Released, With Return Stolen Money.

Joe Brodigan, the youth who robbed his brother Ed, of $150 and divided it among three companions was sent to jail at Uniontown yesterday morning to answer a charge of larceny at the December term of court.

The other boys were released on charge of receiving stolen goods being withdrawn upon their promising to return the money they received from Brodigan.

Mrs. Tormay's Funeral.

Largely attended was the funeral of Miss Jane Tormay, held Wednesday morning at St. John's Catholic Church at Huntville. Requiem high mass was celebrated. The pallbearers were John Bodkin, William Bodkin, John Duncan, Patrick Duncan, Lindsay Preiner and Albert Beckman, grandsons of the deceased. Interment in St. John's the Baptist cemetery.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR FARMERS' INSTITUTES

Interesting Sessions are to be Held in Fayette County Next Month.

Final arrangements have been completed for the twenty-fifth annual Farmers' Institutes to be held in the Presbyterian Church at Dunbar, December 10 and 11. In the Pleasant View Church at Smithburg, December 12 and 13, and in the high school auditorium at Perryopolis, December 14 and 15. The institutes are held under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture of Pennsylvania, and instructors of note are being sent. All farmers and their families and friends are urged to attend.

The instructors are J. T. Campbell of Hartstown, Crawford county, one of the best farmers and poultry raisers in the northwestern part of Pennsylvania; E. B. Dorsett of Mansfield, Ohio, a well known expert in the raising of turkeys; H. W. Funk of Boyertown, Berks county, a typical market gardener and florist, working at these occupations in Pennsylvania and Florida; Malcolm H. McCullum of Wernersville, a truck and fruit raiser and farm superintendent of the state school at Wernersville; and Prof. E. L. Worthen of State College, assistant professor of agronomy. He is a well known expert and fertilizer analyst.

The opening Dunbar session will convene at 1:30 P. M. and the evening session at 7:30 o'clock. Subjects for discussion at the morning sessions are "Economic Maintenance of Production," "Landscape," "The Soil," "Crop Production," and "Organic Matter and Nitrogen." There will be five sessions at each of the three towns.

A committee on arrangements at Dunbar is composed of John W. Smith, J. A. Hays, Harry Harkisslow and J. H. Smith. The committee on meals is composed of Miss Myers, Bertha Nemin, J. M. Burkman and T. Scott Dinn.

The following committees will have charge of the week institute: Arrangements, J. H. Harkisslow, W. O. Phillips, J. Howard Dunn and Harrison Valle; music, Loretta Duff, Harry Duff, Anna Duff and Rena Moser.

At Perryopolis, arrangements, L. C. Harter, T. H. Patton, L. Kreppel and E. H. Arnold, music, Prof. T. C. Meyers and Mrs. L. C. Harris.

HOLD UNION SERVICE

Thanksgiving Services are Largely Attended in Connellsville.

The annual union Thanksgiving services were held yesterday morning in the United Presbyterian Church with representatives from all the churches in attendance. Nearly every seat was occupied. In the absence of Rev. K. H. Burgess of the Trinity Lutheran Church, Rev. J. L. Prouditt of the First Presbyterian Church delivered the opening prayer. An eloquent and appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. R. T. Wolf, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The collection, which amounted to $21.60, was turned over to the Tuberculosis League.

BIG RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT

National Reform Association to Hold Branch Convention Here.

The National Reform Association has arranged to have its fifth annual convention open on Sunday, November 30, in 500 cities. Here the special religious service will be conducted by Rev. J. P. Allison, Rev. George Duff, Rev. W. L. Eversh, Rev. J. L. Prouditt, Rev. M. Tomasko, Rev. C. E. Wagner, Rev. R. C. Wolf and Rev. A. L. Medcalf, the latter of Lanesboro. These ministers were invited by the National Executive Committee of the Association.

The national convention will be held in the Exposition Hall, Pittsburgh, and three smaller auditoriums December 1 and 2.

The service here is a part of the great national plan and similar services will be conducted all over the country from week to week in connection with the state convention.

Knabe Murder Trial Starts.

SHILLERSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 28.—The defense in still a mystery in the trial of Prof. D. M. Knabe, dean of the Indiana Veterinary College for the murder of Dr. Helen Knabe on October 23, 1911, which began today. A special panel of 250 jurors has been subpoenaed.

MAYOR-ELECT AND COUNCILMEN WILL HOLD CONFERENCE

Meet This Afternoon to Discuss the Problems Facing Them.

MAY FORM A WORKING PLAN

New City Officers are Preparing to Take Up Their New Duties Monday;
Old Council Will Hold a Meeting
Tomorrow to Wind Up Business.

Mayor-elect Rockwell Marietta and the four councilmen who are to take charge of the affairs of Fayette county's only city next Monday will hold their first conference this afternoon in the office of Attorney E. C. Higbee for the purpose of discussing some of the problems facing them and to prepare for the formal inauguration line on Monday.

Mr. Higbee attended the conference of third class city men in Harrisburg some days ago and will explain the action that was taken there, together with the various phases of the situation which will arise.

Today's meeting will be the first that the new mayor and council have held. It was delayed by the absence of F. W. Wright, who went after big game in Canada. Mr. Wright returned Wednesday night. He took the trip immediately after the election because he realized that from now on he will be kept close to his job.

The matter of appointments will not be brought up at the meeting today. Preliminary details are to be worked out. Several ordinances will be introduced at the first meeting to get the machinery started properly. No officers are to be elected at the first meeting, with the possible exception of a clerk. It will take in the neighborhood of two weeks to pass the ordinances creating the necessary offices, filling salaries and attending to other details. On Monday the councilmen will elect themselves to the heads of the four departments.

Considerable interest attaches the passage of the constitutional amendment by which authorized municipalities may build water works and other public utility projects without exceeding the limit of debt permitted under ordinary circumstances. One of the first big problems for the new council to face will be the execution of a new contract with the Connellsville Water Company, and the passage of the measure municipal ownership of water works may of accomplishment will have an important bearing on the negotiations.

In order to be absolutely certain of a quorum of the council tomorrow morning, Chief of Police Rotaris is today serving notice on every member to attend. It is no emergency for this meeting to be held in order that current bills and other matters may be given the proper attention. Failure to hold this meeting would seriously embarrass the new administration and cause a further complication of affairs.

After the preliminaries of Monday's meeting of the new commission are concluded, the men will adjourn to meet in four days to pass the ordinances finally. They must then be published and cannot be effective for 18 days after final passage. This will give the members considerable time to consider appointments to the various positions at their disposal.

WANTS TO COME BACK

Washington High Again Asks for Thanksgiving Engagement.

Washington High School wants to send its team here again next Thanksgiving. Following yesterday's contest a formal request was made to Principal Smith that the 1914 schedule be arranged to permit the boys from Little Washington to all the same days they have been given for the past two seasons.

The Washington coach and manager were loud in their praise of their treatment here, and particularly of the officials' work. Referee Herwick, they declared, handled the game better than any of the central board men who have officiated in Washington's games in the Pittsburg district. Washington dropped Uniontown off its schedule after the game three two years ago and has since resumed negotiations with that team. Lack of sportsmanship was the cause assigned by the Washington management.

BIG Y. M. C. A. FUND.

New York City Given $4,000,000 for That Work.

New York has just pledged more than $4,000,000 for the Young Men's Christian Association work in that city, following a successful two-week campaign headed by George W. Perkins, the financier.

Secretary E. T. Baer of the local Y. M. C. A. has been watching the progress of the campaign with interest because the details were worked out by Charles Ward, under whom Mr. Baer was engaged prior to coming here.

Sold by Moore.

A one story frame building and its contents on Main street, Wm. H. H. owned by E. C. Pierce, the awning maker, was sold at sheriff's sale this morning to J. Levy for $255.

SOCIETY.

Pretty Church Wedding.
A pretty church wedding was that of Miss Olga and James McFarland solemnized yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the immaculate Conception Church. The high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father John F. Burns. As the bride party entered the church, the wedding march was played by John McFarland, violinist, and Miss Jennie Cuneo, organist. During mass Miss Winnie Larrigan accompanied by Kiferle, sang. The bride wore a handsome gown of white tulle and a white plumed hat trimmed with two large plumes. She carried a white prayer book. Her maid of honor, Miss Catherine O'Connor, a cousin of the bride, wore a gown of blue tulle and a hat of the same color trimmed with fur. The bridesmaids, Misses Margaret McFarland, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary McFarland, sister of the bride, wore white gowns and white hats. Following the ceremony a well appointed wedding dinner was served at the home of Frank O'Connor, an uncle of the bridegroom. Covers for 20 were laid. A huge bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums formed the attractive centerpiece. At 1 o'clock a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's father, Michael McFarland, in Uniontown. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland left yesterday afternoon for Pittsburgh and Ohio. They will reside in Connelville. Mr. McFarland and his bride are widely and favorably known. The bridegroom is an assistant circulation manager of The Courier. The out of town guests were Mrs. W. D. Gilchrist of Ambler, Miss Mary McFarland and Alice O'Connor of Pittsburgh, Michael McFarland and son, Bernard, and Miss Katherine McFarland, of Uniontown.

Afternoon at Bridge Wharf.
Mrs. R. C. Lyon is entertaining the Friday Afternoon Bridge Wharf Club this afternoon at her home on North Pittsburg street.

Royal Circle to Meet.
The regular meeting of the Royal Circle of the United Brethren Sunday school will be held this evening in the Sunday school room. A large attendance is desired.

Successful Dinner.
The annual Thanksgiving supper and bazaar held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Parochial school under the auspices of the congregation of the immaculate Conception Church was a huge success which is due to the untiring work of the committee in charge. The supper was served by the Young Ladies' Sodality and was perfect in all its appointments. The young ladies at each table made a special effort to see that the guests were properly cared for and abundantly served with the many good things to eat. The different tables presented a very attractive scene, large bouquets of different colored chrysanthemums being lavishly used. All the tables at the different booths were disposed of and dinner was indulged in later in the evening. The collection of fancy work was the largest and most elaborate ever on file at any of the bazaar and supper. A large sum was realized from this booth. The fair booth was a great attraction as were the several other booths.

W. J. Ainsworth of New York won a calf, Mrs. S. J. Harry a barrel of sugar, Rev. Father A. P. Fikors a pig, John Malloy a chicken, Robert Lohay a comfort, Mrs. Robert Lightburn of Adelaide a silk quilt, Miss Emma Moore a barrel of flour, Mrs. Anna McGraw of Johnstown a mahogany pedestal.

Evening at Fancy Work.
Mrs. Lloyd Gonsky entertained the M. E. C. Fancy Work Club Wednesday night at her home at Dunbar. Eight ladies attended and spent a delightful evening at fancy work. A dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Richard Butler of the West Side was a guest of the club.

Dinner at Tea Room.
Charming yellow and white appointments predominated at a beautifully arranged dinner given Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the West Penn Tea Room by Misses Anna Elizabeth DeMuth and Margaret Rose in honor of Miss Ella Wetherbee of Edinboro. Covers for 10 were laid. The pretty centerpiece was a bouquet of chrysanthemums and white chrysanthemums. Yellow chrysanthemums were given as favors. The place cards were adorned with turkeys and the ice cream was in the form of turkeys. Mrs. H. C. McFarland of McKeesport was an out of town guest.

Needleworkers Will Meet.
Miss Corn Libbey will entertain the West Side Needleworkers tomorrow evening at her home at Pennsville.

Family Reunion.
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McChinn, Mrs. Margaret Souther of East Connelville, Mrs. W. S. Wilby, Edna, Elizabeth, William Charles and Harry Scherl attended a family reunion held yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sechler.

Woman's Culture Club.
The regular meeting of the Woman's Culture Club will be held at the home of Mrs. A. P. Freed on Ninth street, Greenwood, Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur is a properly prepared, bringing back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded streaked or gray also causes itching scalp and stops falling hair. You use the only way to get the hair to make it at home which is made and trouble-free. Nowadays, by making at any drug store for Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe about 30 cents.

Don't stay gray. Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and easily. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time, by rubbing the gray hair disappears and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully dark thick and glossy. It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every biscuit—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked. Five cents.

RUB OIL ON ACHING LAME BACK AND GET RELIEF INSTANTLY

Rub Lumbago, Backache, Soreness, Stiffness Away With St. Jacob's Oil.

Kidney cause Backache? No! They have no nerves, therefore can not cause pain. Listen! Your backache is caused by lumbago, sciatica or a strain, and the quickest relief is soothing penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Rub it right on the aching or tender spot, and instantly the pain, soreness, stiffness and lameness disappears. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacob's Oil" from your druggist and limber up. A moment after it is applied you'll wonder what became of the backache, sciatica or lumbago pain. "St. Jacob's Oil" is harmless and doesn't burn the skin. It's the only application to rub on a weak, lame or painful back, or for lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, sprains or a strain—Adv.

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but also laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good work calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do its dirty work.

Most headaches, "dizziness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clean" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists—Adv.

BOOTH'S HYOMEL

Has Benefitted Thousands of Catarrh Sufferers—Will Do the Same for You or Money Back.

The Hyomel treatment that has effectively benefited many thousands of sufferers from catarrh, bronchitis, husky voice, coughs and colds in the head is easy and pleasant to use. Just pour a few drops in the inhaler and breathe it in—no stomach dosing. The healing, soothing and antiseptic air will reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat, will surely stop the irritation almost immediately, will allay the inflammation, drive out the foul odor, kill the germs and banish the disease. If you suffer from raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, crusts in the nose, watery eyes, or any other symptoms of catarrh—use Hyomel.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs only $1.00, and an extra bottle of liquid, if afterwards needed, is but 50 cents. A. A. Clarke will return your money if not benefited—Adv.

Don't Despire a Dollar.
Some people regard a dollar as being very insignificant. Down to the last dollar, it is an old saying, which means that a man has very little money. But a depositor who adds one dollar every week to his bank account, at the end of ten years will have $520.15, the interest on the deposits at 4% amounts to $17.15. When dollar is added to dollar, the aggregate amount becomes a substantial fund. The Citizens National Bank, 138 Pittsburg street, Connelville—Adv.

Save the Babies.
INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five; and one-half before they are ten.

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of purgative preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain opium or laudanum or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they SMITHFIELD, Nov. 28.—H. R. Sackett made a race in his automobile with train No. 3 Tuesday, and beat it to Uniontown. The train pulled out from the Smithfield station a few minutes before Sackett. The train beat him to Fairchance by a lap and had the crossing blocked so that the car could not proceed until the train pulled out. But when the train arrived in Uniontown Sackett was there to meet it. The route taken by Sackett is two miles longer than that of the railroad. No. 3 is one of the fastest trains on the Baltimore & Ohio.

AFTER GRIPPE

Made Strong by Vinol.

John C. Furman, of Clarion, Pa., says "After a very severe attack of the grippe my system was in a weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I had no appetite at all. I was obliged to continue with my work, and nothing seemed to help me until a friend induced me to take Vinol. I began to note good results from the first bottle. I continued its use and am now sound and well as ever."

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another without benefit for such a condition as Mr. Furman was in, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative element of cod-livers without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in building up the weakened run-down system.

We guarantee Vinol to give you perfect satisfaction. Graham & Company, drugists, Connelville, Vinol is sold in the West Side by Fred H. Harnett, drugist.

HIGH CLOSES ITS SEASON WITH THE GAME IS SCORELESS

Strong Washington Team is Held by Plucky Lads Here.

DISMAL SCHEDULE IS OVER

Football This Year Has Been a Keen Disappointment but Efforts Will be Made to Build Up an Eleven for Next Year to Retrive Lost Honors.

A dismal football season came to a close for High School on Saturday when Washington High was held to a scoreless tie. Although the visitors had the superior team they were unable to get the ball over the goal line.

The locals put up a greatly improved game particularly on the defense, but the few chances they had to score were thrown away. Once Connelville had the ball inside of Washington's 30-yard line. This was the nearest they came to the goal line. A fumble gave the pluckin to the visitors before more than one scrimmage had been run.

The game yesterday was disappointing in a good many ways. Weather conditions were decidedly unfavorable. The field was muddy and this affected the players. It was hard to hold the ball, and to tackle an opponent.

Washington stuck to straight football although several forward passes were attempted and a few proved successful. On the other hand, Connelville adopted a new shift in connection with the forward pass, but the pass was held. The backfield men failed to take into account the slow field that made quick footwork impossible for the ends.

Individually, Leighty and Kell were the stars of the contest, although every member of the team played good football. Leighty, who was a Rhodes was ground runner, but Finella was unfortunate. He made several starts, but failed to negotiate a single gain. He was later taken out to let Shon Kell, but the former quarterback failed to get the ball off for more than 20 yards. In the last quarter Wright took Shon's place and was later edged out by Finella's return to the game.

Washington had the ball most of the time, but it was mostly in mired, or treacherous. The locals did their best work in the first quarter. After Washington had worked the ball well down the field it was kicked to Rhodes. Leighty then gained 22 yards on two plunges, Finella trying to get the ball back to the backfield. Things looked right until a forward pass was intercepted by Washington. Another forward pass through the center of the line netted the visitors several yards. The quarter ended with the ball on Connelville's 45-yard line, in Washington's possession.

In the second half there was an exchange of kicks. Washington was so aggressive that Connelville had to kick when it got the ball. Towards the close of the period Connelville got the ball and made good progress, but time clipped their chances.

In the third period Washington got the ball to Connelville's five yard line when a fumble cost them their best chance to score. After that the ball was kept in the air much of the time. The game ended with Washington getting stronger and the ball on Connelville's 30-yard line. The lineup:

Connelville.	Washington.
Kell . . . left tackle . . .	Mumper
Kell . . . left guard . . .	Manfield
Break . . . center . . .	Finella
Rogers . . . right guard . . .	Little
Wingrove . . . right tackle . . .	Elwood
Moser . . . right end . . .	Conley
Rhodes . . . quarterback . . .	London
Leighty . . . right half . . .	C. Conley
Substitutions—Shon for Finella, Wright for Shon, Finella for Wright, Hefner—Hefner, Empire—Mestre.

WILL TAP RUOH COAL.

Railroad Will Exploit the British Columbia Territory.

It is announced that financial arrangements have just been made which will insure the completion of the Portland Canal & Northwestern railway to extend from a point on the coast of northern British Columbia to the coal fields in the Ground Hog mountain district.

Preliminary work was begun about three years ago and terminal facilities have been built at the Portland Canal. The coal to be reached is said to be of a better quality than any now being exploited at the Pacific Coast.

DUNBAR.

DUNBAR, Nov. 28.—Last night was another great meeting, a full house attending. Teddy's the evangelist as he started in on his great sermon, the kind of man in Dunbar that God cannot save and he proved from the Bible that there are men living that God cannot save. When the invitation was given over 20 persons came forward to give their hearts to Jesus. It was a great sermon, great meeting and there was great enthusiasm.

Dunbar has had a wonderful shaking up. It is wonderful how the crowds come to hear "Teddy," the evangelist and his songs.

BROWNELL'S The Bright Spot on Main St.

When the door of our new store swings open to the public on Saturday morning it will mean another link added to the chain of fourteen big, busy, better kind of stores—the kind you like to trade at.

Why we expect to do a big business in Conneville:—

BECAUSE—For a number of years past we have been proving to our customers in many other cities that the Brownell Shoes are the best value on earth.

BECAUSE—We have been showing people where we save them money and give them equal (and in some cases) better values.

BECAUSE—We have shown the skeptical customer that an honest high-grade shoe can be built and sold for a great deal less than the average dealer asks.

BECAUSE—People are learning that it pays to buy from big concerns who believe in small profits but big business.

We have been proving this in all other cities where our stores are located, and we are going to prove it to you.

Conneville, Pa.

For one thing, Tom's noticeable entrance was in marked contrast to his customary polite arrival; a grave and thoughtful cast now sat upon his usually good-humored countenance, and he was contemplating Van Vechten with a preoccupied stare which plainly took no note of his surroundings.

Seeing all at once to become aware of the figure over by the window, Tom halted, uttered a faint "Hello, Ruddy," then proceeded to a chair beside Van Vechten's into which he sank dejectedly. He sat gazing dreamily into the street, as inert as a statue.

Van Vechten surveyed him from time to time, growing more and more puzzled, as the minutes passed without sound or movement from his companion.

"Well," he dryly broke the silence at last. "It was an invigorating shower we had last night."

A grunt from Tom was the sole response. He didn't even trouble to look around. Then Van Vechten injected a note of cheerfulness into his next speech.

"But it has turned delightful today."

"Uh-huh," from Tom.

"Great Scott!" cried the other impatiently. "What's the matter with you? Are you ill? Or is it money—or debts?"—although he knew Tom to be a marvelously healthy animal, and that neither of the other two possibilities had power to distress him in the least.

Tom now slowly revolved his head and looked at Van Vechten, gleefully. Without replying, he absently fell to increasing one wrist, which appeared to his companion to be somewhat swollen and bruised. Van Vechten's curiosity mounted.

"Where have you been?" he demanded.

Tom answered with poorly assumed carelessness: "Over at Rocky Cove."

Then unconsciously he began carving the other wrist, which also was discolored and swollen. Van Vechten observed.

"Rocky Cove—hm. What's happened to your wrists?"

Tom flushed and tried to hide the telltale wrists, but finding this impossible he came suddenly back to earth.

"Ruddy," he abruptly announced, "I mean to find a job."

"A laudable ambition," commented his friend, still eyeing him curiously. "I never had a job myself, nor any desire for one, which, as has been pointed out to me more than once, is nothing whatever to my credit. What do you purpose doing, may I inquire?"

"I'm serious," returned Tom, looking at him steadily. "I mean just what I say. I intend to go to work. Think of all the years I've squandered in idleness—"

"Heaven forbid!" broke in his friend. "I can imagine only one thing that could set you to reflecting upon the desolate, dreary waste of your mispent life. And, miracle diets at view, 't has come at last! Who is this paragon of her sex that has quickened you?"

Tom colored again. "Shucks!" he growled sulkily. "A fellow might as well try talking seriously to an idiot."

Believe me, said Van Vechten earnestly, "I never was in a more earnest mood in my life. Mayn't I be permitted some vent for my disapproval?" You appear here, utterly unlike the chap I know, and sit for minutes, about as garrulous as a corpse, then overwhim me with the amazing revelation that you are—at last—in love! Tom, my dear fellow, I feel as if I were participating in a miracle. Tell me frankly all about her!"

"She has the tenderest, most musical voice in the world," said Tom fervently.

"That's the genuine poetic touch," said his friend. "And her hair—her eyes"—he fell on short—Psyche, or Diana? Hebe, or Hippolyta?"

"I don't know," stammered Tom.

"What?"

Tom twisted and squirmed uneasily in his chair.

"Dash it all!" blurted he at last. "I was an ass for coming here; I might have known that you'd screw everything out of me. When I say I don't know what she looks like, I mean just that, but it makes me not a blooming lunatic. But I haven't seen her. I haven't the least idea what she looks like. Yet I want to find her worse than ever I wanted anything in my life."

The other's aspect grew grave enough now. It was plainly manifest that, since they had parted Sunday, Tom had undergone an experience of some kind, that had affected him profoundly.

"Suppose," said his friend sympathetically, "you tell me all about her."

And Tom did. He began with his day upon the waters of the sound, concluding this stage of his adventure with an account of the motorboat and its occupants.

At mention of the white-haired servant, Van Vechten started violently, but managed to restrain the ejaculation that leaped to the tip of his tongue. His interest was now doubled, and he settled himself to listen to the narrative, which he followed thereafter to the end with a concentration that inspired Tom to genuine eloquence.

At the close of the recital Van Vechten remained a long time absorbed in thought.

"To think," he said finally, "that you—of all persons—should have plunged into an adventure like that! But, Tommy, it is unfortunate that you pledged yourself not to hunt for the house. I suppose it occurred to you that these people are the same who occupied thirteen-thirteen?"

Tom nodded.

"Then listen to this," Van Vechten pursued. "During your absence, Paige's silence has assumed a really disquieting aspect; I am now deeply concerned about her—even now am awaiting replies to a dozen or more cablesgrams I sent off this morning. Her gold purse was found yesterday in that house."

His friend stared at him blankly.

"How the diables did it get there?" he exclaimed.

"To be sure. And what has happened to my cousin? These are two questions that I am extremely anxious to have answered as soon as possible; questions that must be answered, in fact. Do you not see how your promise to the unidentified young lady has tied our hands at a vital moment?"

"You said that the girl you conducted you from the Rocky Cove house, indicated that you might be able to see her—soon—under some strange conditions. Have you any idea what she meant?"

"Not the least," replied Tom. "Only wish I did. But she was mighty serious and solemn about it, I can tell you that."

After much more consideration of the difficulties confronting them, Van Vechten offered the following proposal.

"Although you are bound not to search for the Rocky Cove house, I am not under any such restraint. There is no reason why I should not run over there and have a try at it."

"Ruddy, I can't stand for it," Tom quietly, but none the less firmly, objected.

"Look here, Tom," Van Vechten all at once grew very grave, and there was a new tone in his voice that caught Tom's attention. "I am as interested in one of those girls as you are in the other. Perhaps—hesitatingly—"we are both interested in the same one."

This was the most astonishing disclosure that Tom had yet heard.

"You?" he almost shouted his amazement.

Van Vechten nodded. "I saw her in the crowd at the alley, Sunday, and again at a window across the street while we were returning here. Whether she is the girl in the dark or Jessie, I do not know; but—"

"Describe her," Tom eagerly interrupted.

"She is slender, her hair and eyes are dark. She is very beautiful."

But Tom was emphatically shaking his head. "That—except for the beautiful part of it—could not be the girl who came to me in the dark. I don't know why I know it, but I do. But go on with what you started to say."

"I was going to say that I am confident of this girl's innocence of any wrongdoing, or even a suspicion of wrongdoing. Such being the case, no harm can befall either of them from anything I find and do."

"It's the sandy-haired chap that I want to get at; I suspect he's the mainspring of the whole affair, and indisputably I think so too. I find a pretty clever chap; I respect him more every time we talk. I believe he is thoroughly dependable."

"At any rate if that hulking brute knows anything about Paige, he must be made to tell it; I find can do whatever he pleases with regard to the murder."

AT THE THEATRES.

THE SOISSON.

THE HIGH ROLLERS TONIGHT.

The average theatre patron has troubles enough of his own, and does not wish the idea of paying out good money to see those of others enacted on the stage. That indisputable fact explains the marvelous success this season of the High Rollers Big Burlesque Company, which will make its appearance at the Soisson Theatre on Friday, November 28. The management of this big show has arranged a double bill of musical farce, consisting of "Looking For a Wife" and "Cafe Bergeret," such a veritable scream. There is snap and ginger in the action, and the 15 musical numbers are elaborately staged, a series of vaudeville specialties also being introduced. Dave Meyers, the funny fellow who stands at the head of Yiddish comedians now on the stage, is assisted by others equally prominent behind the footlights, and the classical aggregation of show girls that will be seen in the theatre this season. Extra, La Neta, greatest dancer of them all.

"PEG O' MY HEART."

"Peg O' My Heart," the comedy of youth and laughter, and tears by J. Stratley Manners, which is in the and year of continuous success in New York comes to the Soisson Theatre matinee and night, Saturday, November 29 with Florence Martin, the dainty actress whom Oliver Morosco picked for "Peg" in the title role of the Irish maid.

The play depicts the social adventures of a young Irish girl, the daughter of a lovable but improvident father and an aristocratic mother, upon whom her relatives turned their back when she set out for America with the husband of her choice.

Brought up in poverty and suddenly introduced to affluence and a temporary sojourn with a snobbish and luxury-loving English family, into which she is sent by a clause in her uncle's will, which makes her an heiress, she meets many unusual situations with native shrewdness and craft. With all she has her own little love affair which brings the sparkling comedy to a happy conclusion.

Oliver Morosco has provided a fine production and an excellent cast, including Isabel Vernon, Colin Campbell, Joan Meredith, David Frocton, May Moran, Felt Trenton, Legal Robinson, Earle Craddock, etc.

Women's Suits

Graceful, Varied in Style, at Savings Unusual in November

NOT picked up suits of uncertain character, hurriedly made for "sale" purposes, but the very suits out of regular stock—modish, refined and of the highest style class. There are lately arrived models, different in style from the garments shown when the season was young. A second crop we might say, full-bloom garments in all the beauty of newer style tendencies. Bought advantageously—and going the same way to women who know that suits under price at Wright-Metzler's is the difference in actual savings. Note that the collection contains:

—Four Tailored Suits
—English Style Suits
—Suits with Waistcoats
—Vestee Effect Suits
—Fashionable Outwears
—Splendid Tailored Suits in sizes 12 to 42 for girls and women. Black, navy and all the fashionable tones.

AFTER GRIPPE

Made Strong by Vinol.

John C. Furman, of Clarion, Pa., says: "After a very severe attack of the grippe my system was in a weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I had no appetite at all. I was obliged to continue with my work, and nothing seemed to help me until a friend induced me to take Vinol. I began to note good results from the first bottle. I continued its use and am now sound and well as ever."

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another without benefit for such a condition as Mr. Furman was in, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative element of cod-liver without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-giving properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in building up the weakened run-down system.

We guarantee Vinol to give you perfect satisfaction. Graham & Company, druggists, Conneltsville. Vinol is sold in the West Side by Fred H. Hornbush, druggist.

HIGH CLOSES ITS SEASON WITH TIE; GAME IS SCORELESS

Strong Washington Team is Held by Plucky Lads Hero.

DISMAL SCHEDULE IS OVER

Football This Year Has Been a Keen Disappointment but Efforts Will be Made to Build Up an Eleven for Next Year to Retrive Lost Honors.

A dismal football season came to a close for High School on Saturday when Washington High was held to a scoreless tie. Although the visitors had the superior team, they were unable to get the ball over the goal line.

The locals put up a greatly improved game, particularly on the defense, but the few chances they had to score were thrown away. Once Conneltsville had the ball inside of Washington's 30-yard line this was the nearest they came to the goal line. A fumble gave the pluckin to the visitors before more than one scrimmage had been run.

The same yesterday was disappointing in a game against the Weather conditions were decidedly unfavorable. The field was muddy and this affected the players. It was hard to hold the ball, and to tackle an opponent.

Washington stuck to straight football, although several forward passes were attempted and a few proved successful. On the other hand, Conneltsville adopted a new shift in connection with the forward pass, but the passing was bad. The backfield failed to take into account the slow field that made quick footwork impossible for the entire.

Individually, Lehighy and Kell were the stars of the contest, although every member of the team played good football. Lehighy, Bates and Rhodes were ground gainers, but Finella was unfortunate. He made several starts, but failed to negotiate a single gain. He was later taken out to let Shen kick, but the former quarterback failed to get his legs off for more than 20 yards. In the last quarter Wright took Shen's place and was later edged out by Finella's return to the game.

Washington had the ball most of the time, but it was mostly in a field, or tortuous. The locals did their best work in the first quarter. After Washington had worked the ball well down the field it was kicked to Rhodes. Lehighy then gained 22 yards on two plunges. Finella trying twice without advancing it any. Things looked right, until a forward pass was intercepted by Washington. Another forward through the center of the line netted the visitors several yards. The quarter ended with the ball on Conneltsville's 45-yard line, in Washington's possession.

In the second half there was an exchange of kicks. Washington was so aggressive that Conneltsville had to kick the ball. The game ended with the close of the period Conneltsville got the ball and made good progress, but time clipped their chances.

In the third period Washington got the ball to Conneltsville's five yard line when a fumble cost them their lead and change to what the ball was kept in the air much of the time. The game ended with Washington getting stronger and the ball on Conneltsville's 30-yard line. The lineup:

Conneltsville Washington

Time It—"Pape's Diphenin" Makes You Feel Refreshed and Relieved

Time in Five Minutes.

"I really don't put out stomachs in order—truly does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in two minutes—that's just what makes Pape's Diphenin the largest selling stomach remedy in the world. If what you eat torments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, indigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul, tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diphenin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness. A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diphenin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.—Adv.

BROWNELL'S The Bright Spot on Main St.

When the door of our new store swings open to the public on Saturday morning it will mean another link added to the chain of fourteen big, busy, better kind of stores—the kind you like to trade at.

Why we expect to do a big business in Conneltsville:—

BECAUSE—For a number of years past we have been proving to our customers in many other cities that the Brownell Shoes are the best value on earth.

BECAUSE—We have been showing people where we save them money and give them equal (and in some cases) better values.

BECAUSE—We have shown the skeptical customer that an honest high-grade shoe can be built and sold for a great deal less than the average dealer asks.

BECAUSE—People are learning that it pays to buy from big concerns who believe in small profits but big business.

We have been proving this in all other cities where our stores are located, and we are going to prove it to you.

YOUNG

Co.

For one thing, Tom's noticeable entrance was in marked contrast to his customary boisterous arrival; a grave and thoughtful countenance, and he was contemplating Van Vechten with a preoccupied stare which plainly took no note of his surroundings.

Seemingly at once to become aware of the figure over by the window, Tom halted, uttered a faint "Hello, Ruddy," then proceeded to a chair beside Van Vechten's into which he sank doubtfully. He sat gazing dreamily into the street, as if in a preoccupation.

Van Vechten surveyed him from time to time, growing more and more puzzled, as the minutes passed without sound or movement from his companion.

"Well?" he dryly broke the silence at last. "It was an invigorating shower we had last night."

A grunt from Tom was the sole response. He didn't even trouble to look around. Then Van Vechten injected a note of cheerfulness into his next speech.

"But it has turned delightful today," "Uhuh," from Tom.

"Great Scott!" cried the other impatiently. "What's the matter with you? Are you ill? Or is it money—or debt?"—although he knew Tom to be a marvelously healthy animal, and that neither of the other two possibilities had power to disturb him in the least.

Tom now slowly revolved his head and looked at Van Vechten, blankly. Without replying, he absently fell to unrolling a wrist, which appeared to his companion to be somewhat swollen and bruised. Van Vechten's curiosity mounted.

"Where have you been?" he demanded.

Tom answered with poorly assumed carelessness: "Over at Rocky Cove." Then unconsciously he began caressing the other wrist, which also was discolored and swollen. Van Vechten observed.

"Rocky Cove—h'm. What's happened to your wrist?"

Tom flushed and tried to hide the telltale wrist, but finding this impossible he came suddenly back to earth.

"Ruddy," he abruptly announced, "I mean to find a job."

"A laudable ambition," commented his friend, still eying him curiously. "I never had a job myself, nor any desire for one; which, as has been pointed out to me more than once, is nothing whatever to my credit. What do you propose doing, may I inquire?"

"I'm serious," returned Tom, solemnly. "I mean just what I say. I intend to go to work. Think of all the years I've squandered in idleness—'Heaven forbid!' broke in his friend. "I can imagine only one thing that could set you to reflecting upon the desolate, dreary waste of your mispent life. And, miserable idiot at that, it has come at last! 'He is this paragon of her sex that has quickened you!'"

Tom colored again. "Shuckat!" he growled sulkily. "A fellow might as well try talking solemnly to an idiot."

"Believe me," said Van Vechten earnestly, "I never was in a more sober mood in my life. Mayn't I be permitted some vent for my stupefaction? You appear here, utterly unlike the chap I know, and sit for minutes, about as glib as a corpse, then overwhelm me with the amazing revelation that you are—at last—in love! Tom, my dear fellow, I feel as if I were participating in a miracle. Tell me frankly all about it."

"She has the tenderest, most musical voice in the world," said Tom fervently.

"That's the genuine poetic touch," said his friend. "And her hair?—her eyes?—le she tall or short?—Psycho, or Diana?—Hoho, or Hippolyta?"

"I don't know," stammered Tom. "What?"

Tom twisted and squirmed uneasily in his chair.

"Dash it all!" blurted he at last. "I was an ass for coming here! I might have known that you'd screw everything out of me. When I say I don't know what she looks like, I mean just that, but it makes me out a blooming idiot. But I haven't seen her. I haven't the least idea what she looks like. Yet I want to find her worse than ever I wanted anything in my life."

The other's aspect grew grave enough now. It was plainly manifest that, since they had parted Sunday, Tom had undergone an experience of some kind, that had affected him profoundly.

"Suppose," said his friend sympathetically, "you tell me all about her."

And Tom did. He began with his day upon the waters of the sound, concluding this stage of his adventure with an account of the motorboat and its occupants.

At mention of the white-haired servant, Van Vechten started violently, but managed to restrain the ejaculation that leaped to the tip of his tongue. His interest was now doubled, and he settled himself to listen to the narrative, which he followed thenceforward to the end with a conception that inspired Tom to genuine eloquence.

At the close of the recital Van Vechten remained a long time absorbed in thought.

"To think," he said finally, "that you—all persons—should have blundered into an adventure like that! But, Tommy, it is unfortunate that you pledged yourself not to hunt for the house. I suppose it occurred to you that these people are the same who occupied thirteen-thirteen?"

Tom nodded.

"Then listen to this," Van Vechten pursued. "During your absence, Paige's silence has assumed a really disquieting aspect. I am now deeply concerned about her—even now am awaiting replies to a dozen or more cablegrams I sent off this morning. Her gold purse was found yesterday in that house."

His friend stared at him blankly.

"How the dickens did it get there?" he exclaimed.

"To be sure. And what has happened to my cousin? Those are two questions that I am extremely anxious to have answered as soon as possible; questions that must be answered, in fact. Do you not see how your promise to the unidentified young lady has tied our hands at a vital moment?"

"You said that the girl who conducted you from the Rocky Cove house, indicated that you might induce her—soon—under some strange conditions. Have you any idea what she meant?"

"Not the least," replied Tom; "only wish I did. But she was mighty serious and solemn about it, I can tell you that."

After much more consideration of the difficulties confronting them, Van Vechten offered the following proposal.

"Although you are bound not to search for the Rocky Cove house, I am not under any such restraint. There is no reason why I and I should not run over there and have a try at it."

"Ruddy, I can't stand for it," Tom quothly, but none the less firmly, objected.

"Look here, Tom," Van Vechten all at once grew very grave, and there was a new tone in his voice that caught Tom's attention. "I am as interested in one of those girls as you are in the other. Perhaps—hesitatingly—'we are both interested in the same one.'"

This was the most astonishing disclosure that Tom had yet heard.

"You?" he almost shouted his amazement.

Van Vechten nodded. "I saw her in the crowd at the alley, Sunday, and again at a window across the street while we were returning here. Whether she is the girl in the dark or Jessie, I do not know; but—"

"Describe her," Tom eagerly interrupted.

"She is slender, her hair and eyes are dark. She is very beautiful."

But Tom was emphatically shaking his head. "That—except for the beautiful part of it—could not be the girl who came to me in the dark. I don't know why I know it, but I do. But go on with what you started to say."

"I was going to say that I am confident of this girl's innocence of any wrongdoing, or even a suspicion of wrongdoing. Such being the case, no harm can befall either of them from anything I say and I do."

"It's the sandy-haired chap that I want to get at; I suspect he's the mainpring of the whole affair, and undoubtedly I'll think so too. I'll be more over time we talk. I believe he is thoroughly dependable."

"At any rate if that hulking bruiser knows anything about Paige, he must be made to tell it; I'll not do what-over his pieces with regard to this murder."

THE SOISSON.

THE HIGH ROLLERS TONIGHT.

The average theatre patron has troubles enough of his own, and does not relish the idea of paying out good money to see those of others enacted on the stage. That indisputable fact explains the marvelous success this season of the High Rollers Elg Burlesque Company, which will make its appearance at the Soisson Theatre on Friday, November 28. The management of this big show has arranged a double bill of musical farces, consisting of "Looking For a Wife" and "Cafe Bergere," each a veritable scream. There is snap and ginger in the action, and the 15 musical numbers are absolutely staged, a series of vaudeville specialties also being introduced. Dave Meyers, the funny fellow who stands at the head of Yiddish comedians now on the stage, is assisted by others equally prominent behind the footlights, and the show is at an aggregation of show girls that will be seen in the theatre this season. Extra La Neta, greatest dancer of them all.

"TEG O' MY HEART."

"Teg O' My Heart," the comedy of youth and laughter and tears by J. Hurley Manners, which is in its second year of continuous success in New York comes to the Soisson Theatre on Saturday, November 29 with Florence Martin, the dainty actress whom Oliver Morosco picked for "Teg" in the title role of the Irish made-up.

The play depicts the social adventures of a young Irish girl, the daughter of a lovable but imprudent father and an aristocratic mother, upon whom her relatives turned their backs when she set out for America with the husband of her choice. Brought up in poverty and suddenly introduced to a life of luxury and a happy conclusion.

Oliver Morosco has provided a fine production and an excellent cast, including Isabel Vernon, Colin Campbell, Joan Meredith, David Proctor, May Moran, Nell Trenton, Legal Robinson, Earle Craddock, etc.

WOMEN'S SECTION, SECOND FLOOR.

Women's Suits

Graceful, Varied in Style, at Savings Unusual in November

NOT picked up suits of uncertain character, hurriedly made for "sale" purposes, but the very suits out of regular stock—modish, refined and of the highest style class. There are lately arrived models, different in style from the garments shown when the season was young. A second crop we might say, full-bloom garments in all the beauty of newer style tendencies. Bought advantageously—and going the same way to women who know that suits under price at Wright-Metzler's is the difference in actual savings. Note that the collection contains:

—Our Tailored Suits
—English Style Suits
—Suits with Waistcoats
—Vestee effect Suits
—Fashionable Gowns
—Splendid Tailored Suits

In sizes 12 to 44 for girls and women. Black, navy and all the fashionable tones.

TOYLAND—SECOND FLOOR ANNEX.

People have complimented us on the fineness of the stock, its size and the spaciousness of the location of Toyland. 2,047 square feet are given over to toys alone. The biggest display, we are told, in any Connellsville store. The toys are sensible, attractive, sound and instructive, and they are alluringly priced. IVES mechanical and electrical toys—finest of their kind—are exclusive to this store. Ask for a catalog.

SHOE STORE.

SHOES that loom up big in quality, style and comfort.

DRY GOODS STORE.

IN the TOILET GOODS SECTION we are demonstrating the merits of a

GLOVE CLEANER

that removes spots and marks from textures as well. Harmless to flesh or fabric, impossible to explode, easy to use—and simple. It works wonders!

Christmas Stocks

are brightening all parts of the store. Decorations are up and the holiday spirit pervades the place. Salespeople are enthusiastic, shoppers are good natured, and everybody is making their selections of gift things earlier than ever before. Truly Wright-Metzler's is the
